DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 30-67, are drawn to compression and summarization of information such as text.
 - II. Claims 1-29, drawn to natural language processing, specifically generation of discourse structures.

Inventions I and II are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)).

In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the compression and summarization of information can be achieved through any one of several different tree structures for the purpose of query processing. The subcombination has separate utility such as standalone linguistic analysis (i.e. text analysis), or machine translation involving discourse structure trees, wherein the detailed development of discourse structure trees involves a different search from the combination.

2. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group I is not required for Group II, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.
